On the "World Social Work Day", the working group for social work met on the premises of the German civil service association dbb in Berlin. The attendees send their best wishes to all their colleagues in social work.

"At a time of steadily advancing digitalization and technical change, it is more crucial than ever to place a focus on the importance of human relationships. Especially our colleagues in social work are called upon in this regard, given their profession. I would like to sincerely thank all my colleagues in the diverse professions and occupations that stand up for human relationships every day", said Volker Geyer (national vice chairman of the dbb and dbb management board member responsible for pay scales) in his welcoming speech delivered at the meeting of the dbb working group for social work.
